

Mission Impossible

AOA's "The Mission" teambuilding event is fun, exciting, unique and highly interactive. During their 2-part mission, teams will encounter challenges such as: Precision, Communication & Trust, Risk, Creative Problem Solving, and Trust Your Team. The memories and benefits to the participants last a lifetime!

You already outperform, outwit and outplay your competitors. Now let's see how you measure up to your fellow workmates! We provide you the chance to participate in a uniquely Arizona teambuilding event that combines physical and mental challenges in an inspiring outdoor setting. We recognize that a successful team building activity promotes three qualities that help corporations succeed - teamwork, individual confidence, and synergy. Mission Impossible creates a winning and competitive attitude in the outdoors that will be carried over to the workplace.

OVERALL MISSION TIMELINE

You must prove your team's ability to complete this mission by succeeding in Mission #1 and returning to the Briefing Room. Upon your return, the Mission Leader will verify your success and supply you with the necessary information to complete Mission #2 – Saving Special Agent "99". You will immediately leave on your Covert Rescue Mission.

MISSION OVERVIEW

Because of a failure in our computer defense system, the master list of our covert agents around the world has been compromised. Our agent in Asia has been exposed. Special Agent "99" is now stranded in a safe house. We estimate that the enemy will have located and captured him in less than 3 hours. He cannot perform a self-rescue as he is in the middle of an extremely hostile environment, and badly injured. In fact, he reported during his last radio transmission that he feared he might pass out - we have not heard from him since. However, his emergency beacon is functional and we have plotted his location on a topographical map.

THE PROBLEM

Because each Special Ops Rescue Team (SORT) is new to our command today, we must first qualify each team before sending them into the field on a real mission. Therefore we have prepared a 2-part mission.

MISSION ASSIGNMENT #1: Prove your team's ability to succeed

Prove to us that you can succeed if we choose to send your team into hostile territory. You will compete against the other SORT teams to demonstrate your superior ability to:

- Problem Solve
- Survive -Take risks
- Strategize
- Navigate
- Work as a cohesive unit

MISSION ASSIGNMENT #2: Covert Rescue Mission

As the odds of success are exceptionally low, we will send multiple teams on this rescue mission. The teams to complete Mission Assignment #1 will have the chance to recover the list of agents (on a CD) and savor the glory. The Mission Leader will provide the Special Ops Rescue Teams with the details of the final challenge: moving the entire team through a minefield, recovering the CD, and returning to our embassy safe and sound.

Good Luck!
